Individually Unique, Together Complete. This was our theme for Camp this summer, a theme that speaks to how we operate every day, year-round. The end result of everyone's thoughtful daily efforts – and creative, cooperative actions – make Camp Knutson the incredible place it is for all who come here.

It is that deliberate building of a caring, inclusive culture that keeps campers and Camp partners coming back. This year, we celebrated the 25-year partnership of Camp Knutson and Camp Benedict, a family camp for individuals living with HIV/AIDS. Camp Benedict's focus has changed over the years as medical advances have prolonged the lives of people living with an HIV diagnosis. What hasn't changed, however, is the strong alignment of the two camps' missions to support campers in living their best life.

Our newest members of the staff – Josh Sitarz, program coordinator, and Cooper, Caitlin's golden doodle and all-around camp dog – had a fabulous summer. "It has been a privilege to help serve a record number of campers, while working alongside our remarkable staff and volunteers. The Camp community has welcomed me into my new role with open arms, and I am thrilled to be here," said Josh. Cooper agreed with a hearty tail wag.

The sun shone upon us this summer – literally and figuratively. We had fabulous weather all summer long. Coupled with the loving care of volunteers who kept the gardens and grounds in tip-top shape, we were surrounded by incredible natural beauty. There was so much joy and laughter – Camp comes vibrantly alive during the summer months.

We are thrilled to report we crossed another threshold this summer by serving 1,262 campers – more than we have ever served in one summer before!

We are deeply grateful to every person who is part of Camp Knutson. You are a vital part of what makes Camp Knutson so outstanding. Thank you for being part of our Camp family.

With Warm Regards,

THANK YOU

There are many ways volunteers support Camp Knutson: preparing camp for summer, keeping the grounds neat, beading, airport support, serving at tailgate dinners, organizing fundraisers, and so, so much more. But the heartbeat of volunteers at Camp is the care and nurturing each volunteer brings to their work. It is the kind word, the listening ear, the smiles and laughter, the warm hug, the deep desire to make a positive impact in the life of another human being. And that is a priceless treasure!

MOVING MOUNTAINS: CAMP BENEDICT CELEBRATES 25 YEARS

Few resources were available to people with HIV/AIDS when Connie Statz was diagnosed after a blood transfusion in the early '90s. Knowing other people faced similar struggles, Connie envisioned a place where families affected by the disease could find relief and support.

In 1994, her vision manifested at Camp Knutson through our partner Camp Benedict. This weeklong camp, founded by Connie and Renee Steffen, offered campers and their loved ones a supportive environment where they could share their experiences, learn and recharge.

Connie passed away in 2015, but the camp she founded celebrated its 25th year this summer.

In its early years, Camp focused on medical hurdles, dealing with stigma and making end-of-life plans.

As medicine advanced and awareness spread, Camp shifted its focus to quality of life – a prospect that often felt out of reach to campers decades ago. Today, Camp emphasizes mental wellness, healthy relationships, self-care and personal growth.

"We can deal with things in our life now that we couldn't deal with before because we were trying so hard to survive," said Camp Benedict President Rob Andrews, who is a former camper himself. "Taking care of yourself is, in a way, moving mountains."

Each member of the family leaves with coping skills to use in their daily lives, new friendships and a community that understands and supports them.

"Campers are all going through the same things. It doesn't matter where you come from or what color you are," said Sheila DeChantal, Camp Benedict vice president. "There's always so much love, openness and acceptance. It's amazing to see how much they support each other."

2019 Camp Benedict campers celebrate 25 years with Camp Knutson.

'CAMP WAS FREEDOM': COMING FULL CIRCLE

Tassy was just 12 when her mother was diagnosed with AIDS in 1995. She saw firsthand how the condition, combined with lung cancer, drained her mother's energy and eroded her health. Tassy felt alone. Serious illness seemed to be foreign to other kids her age. The stigma surrounding AIDS deterred her from telling even her closest friends.

"I didn't think anybody else was dealing with the issues we had," Tassy said. "I really had nobody who understood it besides my family."

That year, Tassy's family came to Camp Knutson. They attended a weeklong camp through our partner Camp Benedict, dedicated to individuals and families affected by HIV and AIDS. At Camp, Tassy finally met other kids who shared similar experiences.

"We knew that everyone there was affected by this disease one way or another, so you didn't have to worry that you would be outcast," Tassy said. "Most of us dealt with that year-round, but Camp was freedom. It was a total release for that week."

Tassy and her siblings attended Camp for three years, until their mother passed away. She and her sister returned with their own families for Camp Benedict's 20th anniversary in 2014.

Returning after more than a decade, the sisters built friendships with other campers, many of whom they keep contact with year-round. Coming back to Camp, Tassy said, was especially powerful for her sister in gaining closure over their mother's death.

"We talked a lot about our family coming for the first few years of Camp Benedict," Tassy said. "Coming back with our kids was really full-circle."

KATHY MORGAN HONORED WITH 2019 HERITAGE QUILT AWARD

Long-time Camp Knutson volunteer
 Kathy Morgan was recognized by the LSS
 Board of Trustees with the 2019 Heritage Quilt Award for her dedicated and passionate support of Camp Knutson.

Kathy began volunteering 15 years ago by spearheading beading at the beach – an activity for campers who didn't want to spend all their time in the water. She estimates that the program now touches more than 1,000 lives annually.

"I love the challenge of being creative; I love getting new ideas," Kathy said, when describing what motivates her to volunteer at Camp. "You learn so much, and it's so appreciated. It's lots of hugs and happiness. It's wonderful."

"Kathy truly cares about our campers," said Caitlin Malin, Camp Knutson program director. "She invites them to be creative. She gives them a sense of hope and love."

Because of Kathy, campers have created meaningful art projects, become more confident and forged strong relationships.

In addition to donating her time, Kathy has recruited many volunteers, event supporters and donors. Artist friends from around the country supply materials for Kathy's activities. One local art gallery sells the work the campers create, donating the proceeds from sales back to support the beading program.

"Kathy is truly a gift," said Caitlin. "Her hands are gentle, her spirit is high and her love is endless!"

Kathy receives her quilt award from Jeri Schoonover, LSS chief service officer.

STRENGTHENING SKILLS THROUGH MUSIC

Music therapist Todd Schwartzberg has seen how music therapy empowers individuals to strengthen communications skills, calm themselves in stressful situations and engage in complex learning environments. Since 2002, Todd has brought his expertise to Camp Knutson through our partner Camp Hand in Hand, which provides summer camp to youth and adults with autism.

Todd creates musical opportunities for campers to engage at whatever level they are comfortable. Those opportunities could include campers using words and images to write songs, trying their hand at musical instruments or simply listening to music.

Todd explained that these music sessions are different than music therapy and that he designs them to have therapeutic elements. These sessions offer campers fun opportunities to initiate social interactions, express themselves creatively and discover new possibilities for themselves.

"Whether campers are strumming the guitar or getting to use the big drum set, there are many opportunities that show us we're setting up campers for success," Todd said.

Many campers are often reserved when they first join in the music activities. Once they start picking a guitar or recognize the lyrics to a song, they open up and engage with one another.

"I've strived to create an environment where campers know they are accepted for the incredible individuals they are," Todd said.
